Wissensverständnis und Religionskritik in Dawkins' Gotteswahn

Supervisor: Kurt Appel

Abstract (English)

This diploma thesis represents the approach to expand the philosophical discourse about Richard Dawkins and the attempt to consider his bestseller – The God Delusion – under critical effort. The present study is limited to the investigation and the trial of a critique to Richard Dawkins' theories of science and his critical thesis on religions in The God Delusion. Essential is the attempt to locate exemplary argumentations and statements in Dawkins' work, which may be fruitful for dialogues with his positions.
